

START YOUR OWNER OPERATOR CAREER

Want to become an Owner Operator?

This document will outline some valuable information about becoming an owner operator.

HOW TO TRANSITION

The steps below outline the process of how to transition to becoming an owner operator.

1 Speak to your branch manager

The first step is to speak to your branch manager and let them know you are interested in making the switch.

2 Invest in startup costs

It is important to be aware of the upfront costs that come with being an owner operator. As an Owner Operator, you will:

- a. Need to buy your own truck.
- b. Need to have some money saved and set aside.
- c. Need to be aware there will be repair costs.
- d. Need to pay for equipment to be installed.

3 Get a truck inspection

Trimac needs to perform a truck inspection to ensure that your truck will be suitable for the job. This may require equipment to be installed.

4 Take on more responsibility

While stepping into an Owner Operator role gives you more freedoms, it also has more responsibilities. Some additional responsibilities may include:

- a. Working longer hours to preform maintenance work on your truck.
- b. Taking care of your truck and taking to a shop (oil changes, part fixes etc.)

PERKS & BENEFITS

With the transition to being an owner Operator comes many benefits. Some perks of the role includes:

Get more pay: At Trimac, Owner Operators get paid by-weekly.
